Fall Tinkergarten Class Series

At Tinkergarten, families meet outdoors to connect and learn through play. Tinkergarten Leader, Kyla Davis, will facilitate an expert-designed play scenario, allowing children of various ages (18months-8 years) and needs to explore, problem solve, communicate, collaborate, and create together. The next 10 week class series begins September 11 and 12 with Tuesday classes from 10-11:15am and Wednesday from 2:30-3:45pm in Warren Drive Park, East Aurora. Registration is required. Sign up at <https://www.tinkergarten.com/leaders/kyla.davis>. Visit <https://tinkergarten.com/classes> for more times and locations.

Recycling Education, Coordination, Promotion, and Planning (RECPP) Grants

The DEC administers funding from the Environmental Protection Fund to support municipal waste reduction and recycling (MWRR) efforts in New York State. Grants are available to assist local governments to pay for recycling education, coordination, promotion and planning, reimbursing up to 50 percent of eligible "soft costs" of recycling and waste prevention. Eligible projects include costs of salary for a municipal recycling coordinator, publications, education and outreach tools, recycling advertising, recycling websites, and promotional items. Approximately $3 million will be made available for MWRR-RECCP grants. DEC will be accepting applications only during the months of September and October 2018 for projects to be completed during January-December 2019. For more information, visit DEC's Grants for Recycling Coordination and Education Projects website.

Compostable Plastic wrap Made from Shellfish and Plants

One Positive Solution to Marine Pollution: Biodegradable

Plastic debris is known for its harm to marine life, tangling birds' wings, choking marine mammals and distorting the shells of growing sea turtles. Saltwater Brewery, a craft microbrewery in Florida, has worked with a startup E6PR to develop six-pack rings that can either biodegrade or serve as food for wildlife. The rings, made of wheat and barley, are becoming available in south Florida. Learn more at <https://www.e6pr.com/>.

Enzyme May Allow New Uses for Plant Waste

Research by Professor John McGeehan from the University of Portsmouth has uncovered an enzyme that can break down lignin, a compound that provides support and woodiness to plants. Currently only limited fungi and bacteria can break down lignin. If an affordable method is developed, this would allow more plant waste to be recycled into materials such as nylon, chemicals, plastics and fuels. Read More

Hemlock Woolly Adelgid Educational Video

The New York State Hemlock Initiative is sharing an educational video to inform the public about their efforts to conserve New York State's hemlock resources in the face of multiple threats, particularly that posed by an invasive pest, the Hemlock Woolly Adelgid. Mortality due to Hemlock Woolly Adelgid (HWA) in New York has increased at an alarming rate recently. For info, visit here. View video at

NYSERDA Farm Energy Audits

NYSERDA offers free energy audits to identify energy efficiency measures for eligible farms and on-farm producers, including but not limited to: dairies, orchards, greenhouses, vegetable growers, vineyards, grain dryers, and poultry/egg. Farms must be customers of a New York State investor-owned utility and contribute to the System Benefits Charge (SBC). Please check your farm's current electricity bills to determine if you pay SBC. Farms can request an energy audit through the Agriculture Energy Audit Program. NYSERDA will assign a Flexible Technical Assistance (FlexTech) Consultant to perform an energy audit.

Rechargeable Batteries: What do I do with them when they no longer charge?

Different battery sizes and materials make recycling and/or recharging problematic. For batteries that are marked as rechargeable, they can be recycled at most retail locations that sell them, and retailers are required to provide signage and collection containers in easily accessible locations. Consumers are encouraged to utilize these take-back programs. Types of rechargeable batteries covered by the NYS Rechargeable Battery Law include Ni-Cd, sealed lead, Li-ion, Ni-MH, any other such dry cell battery capable of being recharged and battery packs containing any of the previously mentioned batteries. You can also check with your municipality or local recycling coordinator to see if any special programs are being offered in your area. Organizations and businesses can purchase a box to collect used batteries and then the box can be mailed back to the company for recycling. For non-rechargeable batteries, there is not currently a mandated take-back recycling program. Consumers can inquire with their local municipality or local recycling coordinator to see if any special programs are being offered in their area. Otherwise, non-rechargeable, single-use batteries may be put in your regular household trash and should not be taken to drop-off events.

Hop Harvest Festival- Genesee Country Village & Museum , 1410 Flint Hill Rd., Mumford. By the mid-19th century, growing hops—a perennial that can grow two feet a week—was big business in New York State. It was the state’s main cash crop before the Civil War, and by the end of the century, New York was providing 90% of the nation’s supply. Help harvest fresh hops and tour the only working 19th-century brewery in the United States. Sample brews created from historic recipes; Fat Ox Ale and Intrepid Ale as well as Flint and Steele Cider at the food tent on the Village Square. Stop by the historical kitchens for tastings of hop-inspired snacks, sauerkraut and steak & ale pie. Watch colors turn as we dye with hops. Delight in the simple pleasures of barrel rolling, sack races and a three-legged race. Make a hop-scented sweet bag to promote relaxation. Families are welcome; there is fun
